Deutsche Telekom AG (NYSE: DT) today announced that it has signed a contract for the sale of further six of its nine regional cable TV companies to Liberty Media Corporation. Deutsche Telekom is selling to Liberty Media its entire interest in these six regions including Deutsche Telekom's Level 4 operator Deutsche Telekom Kabel Services GmbH (DeTeKS). In addition, Deutsche Telekom is selling Media Services GmbH (MSG), an IT service Provider and operator of a neutral digital distribution platform in Germany. The sale to Liberty Media will release a total consideration of about Euro 5.5 billion. The transfer of operational responsibility will follow the completion of the antitrust process.

Issuer's information/explanatory remarks concerning this ad-hoc-announcement

"As of today, Deutsche Telekom has achieved its objective of splitting off its cable TV activities," said Gerd Tenzer, Member of Deutsche Telekom's Board of Management, responsible for Production and Technology. "As a result of this agreement, we are now even more effectively positioned to focus on our four pillar growth strategy. The sale of all our cable TV assets is an important part of our non-core assets disposal program. The proceeds will be used for debt reduction."

Liberty Media is acquiring the cable TV regions of Hamburg/Schleswig-Holstein/Mecklenburg-Vorpommern, Bremen/Lower Saxony, Rhineland-Palatinate/Saarland, Berlin/Brandenburg, Saxony/Saxony-Anhalt/Thuringia and Bavaria. More than 10 million households are connected to the cable network in the six regions. All companies employ about 2,800 staff.

With this agreement Deutsche Telekom has sold all nine cable TV regions completely or by majority. In the regions of North-Rhine Westphalia and Hesse, the transfer of operational responsibility has already taken place and in Baden-Württemberg it is imminent.
