

POSTPONEMENT OF THE SHAREHOLDERS' MEETING CALLED FOR MARCH 26, 2020

The shareholders' meeting of Deutsche Telekom AG called for Thursday, March 26, 2020 at 10:00 a.m. as published in the German Federal Gazette on February 19, 2020 is hereby postponed. As a consequence, the shareholders' meeting will not take place on March 26, 2020.

This decision was reached in light of the rapid spread of coronavirus infections (SARS-CoV-2). Over the past few days, Deutsche Telekom has explored all possibilities in intensive discussions with the health authorities. In such a situation, the health of the shareholders, the Deutsche Telekom employees involved with the organization of the shareholders' meeting, as well as service providers working on behalf of Deutsche Telekom are of utmost importance.

The fact that the shareholders' meeting will no longer be held on its original date will have several consequences including the postponement of the resolutions regarding the appropriation of net income 2019 and the payout of the dividend.

The shareholders' meeting shall be held on a new date within the first eight months of the current financial year as stipulated by stock corporation law. The announcement regarding the notice of convocation for the shareholders' meeting on a new date will be made as soon as possible.
